Probe into man's death now turned over to major crime

TRACEY TONG
tracey.tong@metronews.ca

INVESTIGATION The city's major crime unit has now taken over the investigation into a 22-year-old man's death this week, calling the circumstances "suspicious," police reported yesterday.

"It's considered as a suspicious death," said Ottawa Police Constable Al Boucher. "Every suspicious death goes to major crime."

Police responding to a report of a disturbance on Westmount Avenue at 2:25 a.m. on November 1 arrived to find an unconscious man on the ground. He was taken to hospital, where he regained consciousness.

But on Monday, the man lapsed into an unconscious state and "he never regained consciousness," said Boucher.

The man was taken off life support yesterday morning.

Boucher said police are waiting for the results of an autopsy to determine the cause of death of the victim, who has been identified as Michael Aitkenhead, 22, of Ottawa.

Police are looking for witnesses to piece the details together of the events leading up to the man's death, said Boucher.

Anyone with information can contact city police's Major Crime Section at 613-236-1222, ext. 5493.

Seven more senior city management positions were chopped yesterday at city hall.

Following layoffs to two city managers last month, three department directors were immediately let go by the city yesterday: Barry Robinson, the director of real property and asset management; Russell Mawby, director of housing; and Mike Flainek, director of traffic and parking operations. Four others will be offered other portfolios, or have their jobs phased out eventually.

Mayor Larry O'Brien said the move should not come as a surprise, in the wake of layoffs announced last month and the city's target to cut 230 full-time jobs from the 2009 budget. The move cuts the number of directors from 31 to 24.

The cuts, he said would flatten the "silos" that keep city managers from working at peak efficiency.

"If you look at social services, there were several different silos that you had to work with in order to get decisions made. So a lady or man walking in off the street had to go to three or four different services to get the kind of services they needed," he said.

"Now they'll be able to go in and get services from one stop."

The savings expected from this phase of cuts total $1.5 million and is part of a three-year, $113-million savings target, directed by council.

City manager Kent Kirkpatrick said the latest cuts would not affect city services.

"This realignment will help define a leaner and more customer-focused organization that is better positioned to achieve the strategic priorities of council," said Kirkpatrick.

Lansdowne plan delayed by bid review

TIM WIECLAWSKI
tim.wieclawski@metronews.ca

PROPOSAL A local group's bid to redevelop Lansdowne Park will be reviewed before the city decides whether or not to hold a competition to redesign the property.

Yesterday, Coun. Clive Doucet deferred a motion to restart a design competition until after Ottawa reviews a bid by "Lansdowne Live" — a local group composed of Ottawa 67s owner Jeff Hunt and developers Bill Shinkman, Roger Greenberg and John Ruddy.

Doucet said it was evident he could not secure enough votes to restart the competition immediately, but he believes the public supports an open competition. Mayor Larry O'Brien opposes that plan, saying the local group's bid should be thoroughly examined.

"There is no sense wasting taxpayers' money until we've had a chance to do a thorough review of the proposal ... by Lansdowne Live and we now have a chance to do that," O'Brien said.

The local group's plans include a 35,000-seat football and soccer stadium, hotels and commercial space, and an aquarium at Aberdeen Pavilion. But Montreal-based Broccolini Construction has also asked for a chance to compete.

Barrhaven councillor Jan Harder said another bidder should not affect the local evaluation process.

"We don't know at this point if (Lansdowne Live) is good for the city or not, but it deserves to be looked at."

The review is expected to take six weeks.

"This is where she was killed."

Holding a sign that read No More Dead Pedestrians, Sheila Moore stood at the corner of King Edward Avenue and Rideau Street last night to remember her aunt who died while crossing the intersection.

Stephanie Clavel, 86, died after being struck by a truck at the busy intersection on October 31.

"It was a tragic death," said Moore. "She was vivacious and giving and had the biggest heart."

Dozens of people attended a vigil organized by the Lowertown Community Association to remember those who have been killed or injured by traffic in the King Edward corridor last night.

The association called on the government to move the trucks off King Edward Avenue. "We don't want to see any more injuries or any more deaths," said Angela Rickman, president of the Lowertown Community Association.

"Every day, between 2,100 and 3,000 trucks take this route. It's a recipe for disaster."

"When I heard a woman was killed here, it broke my heart," said Brook Burchfiel, an association member. "We're here to mourn the loss of anyone who died here, or who was injured here. They're preventable deaths."

"Trucks need to be in a location where it can be linked to a future ring road," said Jane Brammer, chair of the Community Action for Reasonable Analyses and Decision. "They should not be in neighbourhoods, on the front steps of hospitals or on people's back steps or front doors."

"I walk by here every day to work," said Ottawa resident Borys Gengalo.

The area gets too much pedestrian traffic for that many trucks to go by, he said.

Provincial cash flows for river, social housing

FUNDS Ottawa now has some extra jingle in its pockets for infrastructure, thanks to provincial funding that came through yesterday.

The province handed over a cheque for $77.272 million yesterday — the city's share of a $1.1 billion provincial capital-funding program — that will be used for cleaning the Ottawa River, upgrading social housing, and other projects.

"That's money that can be used for infrastructure relatively quickly. We want this to act as an economic stimulus to Ottawa," said Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing and Ottawa West-Nepean MPP Jim Watson.

"I am very pleased that the City of Ottawa is going to use $33 million towards improving our sewer system and to protect our Ottawa River as well as beaches like Petrie Island," said Ottawa Orleans MPP Phil McNeely.

The city is also allocating $11.5 million to upgrade social housing, said Yasir Naqvi, MPP Ottawa-Centre.

Deck the Hill with LED lights

HOLIDAY It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas — at least at Parliament Hill.

In preparation for the National Capital Commission's 24th annual Christmas Lights Across Canada program, workers began stringing LED lights at Parliament Hill yesterday.

Over the next several weeks, more than 200,000 lights will be strung along Confederation Boulevard for the holiday season. An additional 100,000 lights will be strung at NCC partner sites.

"We have 40 federal partners who also participate in the illumination of the capital region," said NCC spokeswoman Annie Desrosiers.

While partners — including the National Gallery of Canada, the Lord Elgin Hotel, the Embassy of Japan and the National Arts Centre, to name a few — pay their own electricity bills, the NCC foots the bill for all its participating properties, which include Parliament Hill, 24 Sussex Drive, and Confederation Park.

But the bill has actually shrunk over the years. Desrosiers said the hydro bill for the 2006-'07 season

Roy's Lighting Service employee Mathieu St-Pierre of Vars strings up Christmas lights at Parliament Hill yesterday.

— the first year the program employed all LED lights — was 65 per cent lower than the bill in 2005-'06, when some incandescent lights were used.

This year, the National Capital Commission is going back to traditional colours, said Dorota Grudniewicz, an NCC landscape architect.

The strands will be illuminated at the official ceremony on December 4 and will turn on nightly through January 7.

Shortfall scares city off student bus plan

tim.wieclawski@metronews.ca

A $2.9-million hit to the transit budget may prove too large a pill to swallow to launch a student bus pass project next fall.

Following two deadlocked votes yesterday, a proposal to have all University of Ottawa undergraduate students billed $125 per semester in return for universal bus passes will be debated again at the next council meeting.

The proposal had won uOttawa students' approval in a referendum, but Barrhaven councillor Jan Harder said she couldn't support a plan that was based on dollar figures not supported by the city.

"We have a university council that has gone out with their own number of $125 per semester," she said. "You don't get to do that. We make that decision."

The students' federation had proposed charging an extra $125 for registration per semester, in exchange for passes for all 29,000 full-time students. Transit staff estimated that would lead to a $2.9 million shortfall and said the fee would have to be closer to $200.

Student federation president Dean Haldenby said the point of the pilot project was to determine what revenue neutrality would be. Haldenby was disappointed by the decision.

"We've been working on this for two years. The university has been working on this for a decade and we're going to keep it up, but it's going to come to a point where the students say 'Enough is enough.'"

OC Transpo program manager for business development Pat Curran said if the pilot project were to be extended to Carleton University, Algonquin College and La Cite, the budget pressure would be over $10 million per year.

Flaherty said in Toronto yesterday that while some people are calling for financial assistance, others believe it would be good money after bad.

McGuinty meeting with industry

• Premier Dalton McGuinty is meeting tomorrow with GM, Chrysler, Ford, Chrysler, Toyota and Honda. Ottawa is under pressure from the industry and Ontario to come up with a stimulus package for an ailing sector.

"There are many people saying we should do something with respect to the auto sector. But I can tell you, even in my own riding where I was yesterday, in Whitby-Oshawa, which is the home of General Motors of Canada, there are also people who say, 'Don't do anything — don't use my tax money to bail out an enterprise that may not survive', Flaherty said.

His comments appeared to contradict the positive message from the First Ministers' meeting earlier this week, which left premiers with the impression Ottawa was poised to help the struggling industry with a bailout package.

Canada buys up $50B more in mortgages

The Canadian government will buy up $50 billion more in insured mortgages from banks as part of a series of steps announced yesterday to improve the availability of long-term credit.

The move came as U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry Paulson said he was backing away from buying troubled mortgage assets using a $700 billion US bailout fund. Canadian officials said the key difference between the two approaches is that Canadian mortgages are not in distress.

Other measures taken by Ottawa yesterday included making it cheaper to use government insurance to guarantee bank borrowing, and loosening regulations for banks to allow them more sources of funding.

The Bank of Canada also set up a term loan facility to lend $8 billion to banks in four tranches, using their non-mortgage loans as collateral.

The measures, announced by Finance Minister Jim Flaherty, were aimed not only at easing the credit crunch but at ensuring that domestic banks are able to compete on an equal basis with those in other countries.

He said the government would triple to $75 billion the amount of insured mortgage pools it would buy by the end of the fiscal year on March 31. The assets are already insured by the the government's Canada Mortgage and Housing Corp. REUTERS

Aid not needed

Canadian banks should be able to get through the financial crisis without the kind of government aid being deployed to financial institutions in other countries, TD Bank's top executive said, adding the federal government is actually making money on its mortgage buyback program.

U.S. looks to change bank bailout plan

CRISIS The U.S. Treasury backed away from using a $700 billion US bailout fund to cleanse bank balance sheets of bad mortgage debt, while Europe reported more gloomy economic news, fanning fears of a worldwide recession.

Global stock markets fell, with Wall Street down for a third straight day and the tech-heavy Nasdaq closing at a five-year low. The price of oil tumbled 5 per cent to just above $56 a barrel.

Secretary Henry Paulson, in the most explicit sign yet that Treasury was abandoning its initial plan for the rescue funds, said he preferred to focus instead on buying stakes in banks to encourage them to increase lending.

Treasury initially promoted the bailout as a way to help banks unload toxic mortgages, but yesterday, Paulson defended the change in a news conference, saying, "I will never apologize for changing an approach or strategy when the facts change."

Tories' portrait of contempt

Home&Abroad

Andrew Cohen

Canada & world insight

If we wonder why so few Canadians voted in the last federal election — a record low turnout — the reason may be how disdainfully their government treats them.

We need not agree with the government's decisions, but we are entitled to know why and how it makes them. Isn't that what democracy is about?

Consider the mysterious decision to cancel the Portrait Gallery of Canada, which was announced stealthily last week. The purpose of a national portrait gallery — which serious countries have — is to educate people, to display the past in pictures, to tell history through the images of those who create a country.

A year ago, the Conservatives announced they would invite bids from developers in nine cities to host the gallery, which was proposed for Ottawa by the Liberals in 2001. It was embarrassing, a country handing a public gallery to private developers and possibly moving it out of the national capital, but that isn't the point here. The point is the contempt it showed for Canadians.

Last Friday, the government announced it would not accept any of the bids. None met its criteria. So it cancelled the gallery entirely. It refused to reveal the bids or how they were judged, saying only that a gallery is now too expensive.

But what was most telling was the process here. James Moore, the new, highly regarded minister of Canadian Heritage, did not call a news conference, which would have been honest.

Instead, Moore's office issued a three-paragraph statement after hours on Friday, when everyone had gone home. His spokeswoman, Deirdra McCracken, said it wasn't ready earlier.

Issuing late news releases is an old trick. The idea is to play down an unpopular decision, ensuring that few people see it and discuss it.

Ask McCracken about this and her stonewalling has a Bambi-like innocence. Why, she even wonders — this is true — did she receive "so few calls from reporters" to speak to Moore, who made himself available to say the gallery would now cost $100 million rather than $44 million, without providing any evidence whatsoever.

We can only guess that journalists were unaware of the opportunity to spend their Friday night chatting with McCracken, who surely could have delayed the urgent statement until Monday, and had her minister deliver it.

The reason for this little game? Limit debate. Avoid discussing a legitimate national enterprise seven years in the making. Treat voters like children.

Then wonder why so few vote.

An ode to average children

By KELLY SCHWARTZ

As I sit and listen to my son massacre one of several timeless left-hand-then-right-hand classics on the piano, six words immediately come to mind: "Wow! A prodigy he is not!"

But he is not entirely to blame for either his lack of skill or devotion to this parent-imposed ritual of daily aural abuse. I'm really just passing down another of the several rites of passage my parents did "to" me, and thus anything less than sitting and kicking the bejeepers out of the old upright piano for 30 minutes a day is better than I did at his age.

His lack of attention to excellence is compounded by the unseasonably warm autumn weather, which means he is missing one of several street hockey games that are calling his name much louder than the sweet notes of Cantina Band in Bb screaming awkwardly from his fingers. Both of us finally give in — and give up — and out the door he goes with stick in hand.

While I sit and ponder whether or not street hockey might be an Olympic sport by the time my son is ripe of Olympian age, I find myself struck with a mix of mild disappointment and peaceful resignation that my kids are (gasp!) average. From what I can see so far, my kids are no Sidney Crosby, no Wesley Chu, no Miley Cyrus (whew!), and no Lauren Bay Regula (for women's fastball novices, she was the star pitcher on Canada's 2008 Olympic softball team). And guess what? The more I learn about kids and healthy development, the more you and I should be OK with that.

You see, our country, its families, and parents in particular need to be content with the fact that millions of our kids are simply average, normal, and just plain plain. Encouraging our kids achieve to their potential is one thing, but demanding that they be the best at everything is simply unrealistic. Our homes are not the set of a Hannah Montana episode (and thankfully, sans mulleted fathers like Billy Ray Cyrus!), and real life means it's OK for our kids to just be kids.

As I put the piano books away I can hear the cheers from the street. My boy can go shelf on the shooter tutor like no other! Well, not really, but as far as average Sydneys go, he's pretty good.

Ruutu suspended

Jarkko Ruutu is the latest NHLer to be disciplined for a dangerous hit. The Senators forward received a two-game suspension yesterday after catching Montreal's Maxim Lapierre with an elbow early in the third period of a game on Tuesday night.

A not-so-happy anniversary

The Senators have been in the tank for almost a year

Mark it on your calendar. This Sunday marks one full year since the Ottawa Senators went down the sink-hole.

Nobody knew it at the time, and with the Senators getting out of the gate looking like the Montreal Canadiens circa 1977, who could have seen it coming? Who would have known that a 3-0 loss to the lowly Toronto Maple Leafs Nov. 17 would have signaled the beginning of a descent into the abyss from which the Senators have not recovered.

After going 15-2-0 to start the season, the Senators have gone a dreadful 24-36-9 since then, including a 6-7-1 start to this season.

For the past couple of seasons, hockey observers

The Hockey News

Ken Campbell

thehockeynews.com

have opined that it was only a matter of time before the Senators window for a Stanley Cup closed.

The way they've played in the last calendar year, it looks as though it has slammed shut. There have been a myriad of changes throughout. Try as they might to balance their lines by splitting up the Pizza Line of Jason Spezza between Daniel Alfredsson and Dany Heatley, the result has been disastrous. The tinkering continues with coach Craig Hartsburg taking Antoine Vermette off the line with Spezza and Heatley and replacing him with Nick Foligno.

Goaltending, often a source of frustration for the Senators, isn't the problem this time. In fact, Alex Auld was statistically one of the top goalies in the NHL before the Senators were whitewashed 4-0 by the Montreal Canadiens Tuesday night.

They tried to get tougher, adding some veteran grit in Jason Smith and Jarkko Ruutu, but the two have been largely ineffective with Ruutu earning a two-game suspension for his flying elbow on Maxime Lapierre in the game against the Canadiens.

The Senators, meanwhile, are a mess. Their defence corps, once one of the best in the NHL, can't defend particularly well and has a real problem moving the puck. With the exception of a few spurts, Heatley and Spezza look lost without Alfredsson, leading fans to plead to put the three back together so the Senators have at least one dangerous line.

And to think just a year ago, people were planning the Stanley Cup parade route.

Burke free to roam

Brian Burke stepped down as general manager of the Anaheim Ducks on yesterday, clearing the way for a much anticipated move to the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Burke, who is also general manager of the U.S. national team for the 2010 Vancouver Olympics, will be replaced by the Ducks' senior vice-president of hockey operations Bob Murray. In the final year of his four-year contract, Burke will continue in a consultant's role with Anaheim but, according to reports on the Ducks' website, has been given permission to explore other opportunities.

Burke refused to speculate on his future. The Maple Leafs have long been in hot pursuit of the NHL executive.

"This should be Bob Murray's day but all speculation about what happens next we can do that at some other time," Burke told a news conference. "I haven't gotten that far."

"Brian respectfully declined our contract extension offer last week," said Ducks' CEO Mike Schulman. "With his support, we decided to make the transition at this time."

iPhone ahead

Apple's iPhone is beating the RIM BlackBerry in sales and now tops the Canadian phone in consumer satisfaction.

J.D. POWER AND ASSOCIATES

These are sweet days for Apple

TechNow

Paul Brent

technow@ctv.ca

ast quarter, Apple sold 6.9 million iPhones — 800,000 more than Research In Motion's BlackBerry — and that makes Apple the third largest mobile phone supplier.

Add in sales of 2.6 million Macs and 11 million iPods, and Apple has $25 billion US in the bank.

And if that's not enough, late last week J.D. Power and Associates revealed a survey of smartphone users placed satisfaction with the iPhone on top with 778 points out of a possible 1,000. BlackBerry placed second at 703, and Samsung was third with 701. Users rated ease of operation, the operating system, physical design, features and battery power. BlackBerry had the best battery system but Apple took all of the other categories.

Kirk Parsons of J.D. Power said Apple "has exceeded customer expectations."

I had a chance to use the iPhone, the RIM Bold and the Palm Treo. The survey results are not a surprise. The iPhone was clearly the easiest to use. The Palm had some nasty glitches.

For example, you hit the answer button for a call and sometimes the phone shuts off or the software locks up.

BlackBerry placed second in a recent survey on smartphone satisfaction — behind the Apple iPhone.

J.D. Power found 34 per cent of users say at least once a week they experience applications problems like I did and 44 per cent of users boot their phone at least once a week. Parsons says manufacturers had better work on reliability.

Some Rogers iPhone customers recently had problems, too. All calls were going directly to voice mail. One user told me tech support said it was a 3G network problem and consumers were told to turn off 3G.

Hmmm. That's not what you want to hear when you bought an iPhone for its speed. Rogers now says it thinks it's solved the problem.

Smartphone sales now top sales of regular phones and the top two reasons for buying a smartphone are to access the Internet or get e-mail. RIM's co-CEO Mike Lazaridis tells me that in his view the phone has "become an integral part of what we do at work and in the rest of our life and we won't give up communications."

Look for even more competition in phones. Christmas, a prime cellphone buying time, is coming up. Nokia is battling to stay No. 1 in market share after they've lost 12 share points in the last year. Apple is the new No. 2, followed by RIM (Canalys Research figures for 2008 third quarter).

Townhouses for sale illustrate the national housing numbers released yesterday, as real estate economists dramatically change their market forecasts, given the stock market crisis.

Realtor's group cuts forecast

Given the turmoil in the global stock markets, real estate economists have been scrambling to revise forecasts made at a time when Lehman Brothers was still in business and big North American automakers weren't on life support.

What a difference a few months makes.

In August, the Canadian Real Estate Association forecast a 2.6-per-cent increase in national housing prices for 2008 and another 2.1 per cent next year.

Yesterday, CREA released a new forecast, calling for a 0.6-per-cent slide this year and a further 2.1-per-cent drop in 2009.

"This is in line with the downward revisions of the Canadian economic and job growth forecasts," CREA chief economist Gregory Klump said yesterday.

A bigger-than-expected price depreciation and lower sales in British Columbia are expected to pull down the national average, Klump added.

The downgrade comes on the heels of another revision by Canada Mortgage and Housing Corp. last week.

The federal housing agency said Ontario housing starts were originally forecast to hit 65,000 units next year, but revised that down to 62,000.

Existing home sales, forecast to be 178,000 in 2009, were downgraded to 173,000.

"With a weak domestic economy and tighter lending conditions, we expect Canadian housing activity to slow notably further in the future," said Millan Mulraine, an economics strategist with TD Securities.

"With a weak domestic economy and tighter lending conditions, we expect Canadian housing activity to slow notably further in the future."

Millan Mulraine, TD Securities

Meanwhile, in a separate release yesterday, the CMHC said Canadian residential construction declined by 3.1 per cent in October compared with a month earlier.

Starts came in at 211,800 annualized units, greater than the expected 200,000 units, thanks to remaining strength in the condominium sector.

Choosing flattering colours

What works for clothing also works for decor

When it comes to choosing colours for home decor, take a clue from your closet.

Most people understand that they look good in certain colours. For example, a dark blue sweater can beautifully emphasize blue or grey eyes. A blouse in a rich shade of peach can give a lovely golden glow to darker skin tones. A scarf in a vibrant rose colour can put a lovely blush into cheeks and lips.

If you've got a concentration of any particular colour in your closet (and most people do), chances are that you do actually look smashing in that colour. It flatters your skin tone, hair and eye colour. Of course, you'd have lots of items in your closet in that colour! Who wouldn't?

Not surprisingly, what works for clothing also works for decor. "If you look good wearing a certain colour, the same applies to a room. If you surround yourself with that flattering colour, you'll

When choosing your room's dominant colour, consider tones that compliment your skin tone. Purples and muted whites, in this room from Sico paint, will make just about anyone shine.

HomeScape

look fabulous," says designer Jeffrey Fisher.

If you are considering bringing a particular colour into your home, and you want to be sure it flatters your skin tone, just drape a fabric of that colour around your shoulders and consider the effect. It should make you look good, enhance your skin tone or bring out the sparkle in your eyes.

You can paint walls in light shades of the flattering colour, or you could follow the advice of a thousand decorators—go for a neutral colour on the walls, and add pulses of flattering colour in smaller, but more intense concentrations.

Think bed linens, towels and shower curtains and throw rugs to showcase what your mama gave you.

Also use them on throw pillows, throws on sofas, draperies, rugs and upholstery.

HOW TO KEEP A FULL STOMACH ON AN EMPTY WALLET

When finances get tight, luxuries are the easiest and most obvious things to cut. However, what's not so obvious is how to cut spending on the essentials, such as food. But with the price of what we eat predicted to soar this year, it's well worth looking for ways to cut spending.

This year's increase could translate into hundreds of dollars for many families. The typical family of four spends more than $8,500 a year on food. Sharp increases in fuel and commodity prices take most of the blame, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

But there are many things a family can do to cut food costs that involve more planning than sacrifice. "The first one is start paying attention to what you throw away," says Beverly Mills, one of the authors of the cookbook, "Cheap. Fast. Good!" "The most expensive food you buy is the food you don't eat."

On the tip of James Bond's tongue

À la carte

Barb Holland

Metro Food Writer

In the spirit of Bond mania leading up to the release of Quantum of Solace, let's look at an arena in which this sophisticated and suave agent would feel right at home — the cocktail party. Beautiful and bejewelled women, men in tuxedos and the mysterious allure of strangers.

"Every once in awhile you take a little bite of this and a little sip of that, and it hits just the right note," says Canadian wine educator Shari Darling, who calls this the "Moan Factor."

Darling is the author of a new cookbook, Orgasmic Appetizers and Matching Wines (Whitecap Books), a book that would certainly appeal to James Bond, who's made many a woman moan. These treats would also be a killer for a pre-movie, entertaining night for guests.

Virgin Cherries Stuffed with Goat Cheese

Darling recommends a brut sparkling wine with some lemon flavour for this recipe from her book. If you can find a small bottle of extra virgin olive oil infused with white truffles, it makes for a lovely drizzling oil for this easy and classy hors d'oeuvre. Makes 24.

INGREDIENTS:

- 24 large cherry tomatoes
- 4 oz (125 g) fresh goat cheese (chevre)
- Salt and pepper
- 24 tiny fresh basil or oregano leaves
- White truffle oil or extra virgin olive oil

METHOD:

Wash and dry tomatoes, cut a small slice off bottom of each tomato to sit flat (be careful not to break through tomato). Slice a thin portion from top of each tomato. Using a melon baller, scoop out the flesh, being careful not to break the skin.

To make the filling, combine goat cheese, salt and pepper to taste until smooth. Fill each tomato with 1 tsp (5 mL) mixture. Garnish each with basil or oregano leaves. Drizzle each with a little olive oil. Cover and chill.

Canadian wine educator Shari Darling recommends a brut sparkling wine with some lemon flavour for these Virgin Cherries Stuffed with Goat Cheese.

Chicken and Mango in Crisp Wonton Cups

Both the cups and the filling can be made ahead. Assemble this Asian flavoured appetizer just before serving. Makes 32.

INGREDIENTS:

- 32 wonton wrappers (1-400 g package)
- 1 lb (500 g) boneless, skin-

less chicken breasts

- 1 ripe mango, finely diced
- 1/2 red pepper, finely diced
- 2 green onions, finely diced

- 1 tbsp (15 mL) minced fresh ginger
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 tbsp (15 mL) each hoisin sauce and chili garlic sauce
- 1 tsp (5 mL) soy sauce
- Salt and pepper
- Cilantro leaves

METHOD:

Preheat oven to 350°F (180°C). Push a wonton wrapper into each cup of a muffin pan and bake 5 to 7 minutes or until golden and crisp. Remove cups to a wire rack to cool.

Continue with remaining wrappers, cool then store in an airtight container for up to 2 days.

Grill, bake or broil chicken breasts until cooked. Cool then dice into small cubes.

Combine chicken, mango, red pepper, green onion, ginger and garlic. Stir in hoisin, chili garlic and soy sauces.

Season to taste with salt and pepper. Filling can be made up to one day ahead, covered and refrigerated.

To serve, warm filling in microwave briefly to room temperature and spoon into cups just before serving. Garnish with cilantro leaves.

Holiday hot: 7 pro make-up tips

JANINE FALCON
for Metro Canada

In the upcoming whirlwind of festive engagements, you need a variety of beauty options. Paul Venoit, celebrity makeup artist and CoverGirl make-up pro, and Joli Baker, president of Pür Minerals, share their party-pretty advice to take you through the season:

1) Great-looking skin is where everything starts. "Don't overdo it, though," says Venoit, who recently appeared on the Rachel Ray show to help transform a viewer from everyday blah to Nicole Richie hot. "Let your skin show through. Apply a little concealer and foundation and, for extra holiday glam, use a large natural bristle powder brush to set with light mineral powder."

2) "My favourite holiday party looks always involve a bit of glimmer," says Baker. "Gold or silver on the eyes, a beautiful shimmer on the lips... and don't forget the body." Baker likes a dusting of glow powder on arms, back, legs and décolleté. "It's absolutely sexy."

3) "Highlight the tops of the cheekbones," the brow bones, the inner corners of the eyes and the bow of your lips," says Venoit. "Reflect that evening light!"

4) Baker's smokey eye tip is ultra-quick; keep it in mind when you have to zoom from work to drinks, dinner or the office party. "Use an eyeliner brush to smudge black or navy shadow over your existing liner," she advises.

5) Give dark smokey eye makeup a twist with an unexpected colour hit. "Line inner rims with an eye liner shade that pops — turquoise, teal, violet or green," suggests Venoit. Or go for coloured shadow and line rims with black.

6) Winged liner is another hot look. Venoit recommends using black liquid liner pen, then adding intensity with a wet angle brush and black eye shadow. "Use short strokes to line across the base of the upper lashes, and exaggerate a bit at the end with a little flick up at the outer corner of your eyes," he says.

7) Support bold eyes with rosy nude or gold gloss for subtle sexiness on your lips. If you're rocking gold or silver eye makeup, ramp up the focus on your lips with rich, red gloss or a sophisticated deep red or berry lipstick.

Last, "Don't be afraid to add more drama than you would use during the day," says Baker. Venoit is of the same mind. "This is the time to play," he says. "Bring out your inner Diva, dahling!"

Connery best Bond: Poll

JIM REYNO
Metro Canada

When it comes to Bond, it's Sean. Sean Connery is the overwhelming favourite big-screen James Bond, according to Metro readers.

A recent Metro Life Panel survey found 45 per cent of worldwide respondents pick the bald Scot as best Bond. Slick Pierce Brosnan is a distant second at 24 per cent. Stoic Roger Moore has 18 per cent support, followed by the abdominal-workout obsessed Daniel Craig, the current Bond.

There's also two guys on the poll named Timothy Dalton (two per cent) and

Connery

George Lazenby (one cent). In terms of sex, Connery is the choice of both of them — 48 per cent of men, 43 per cent of women. Moore is No. 2 for guys (21 per cent), while women prefer Brosnan (29 per cent). When you break the data down by country, nobody feels more passionately about anything than the Italians feel about Connery. He dominates the field, getting 62 per cent of the vote in Italy. No other Bond tops 15 per cent.

In Canada, we like the current Bond more than anyone. Sixteen per cent of Canadian readers take Craig. His next highest approval rating is in Sweden (14 per cent). Overall, 42 per cent of Canadians pick Connery as top Bond, followed by Brosnan (26 per cent), Craig (16) and Moore (14).

As for the Bond bad guys, Goldfinger (21 per cent) is the worldwide winner. In Canada, we prefer the steely mouthed, multi-film villain Jaws (23).

Generation gap

Serena Ryder

Album: Is It OK

Label: EMI

Rating: ●●●●●

ON HER LAST CD, If Your Memory Serves You Well, this 24-year-old Peterborough native proved her three-octave voice can blow the socks off just about every other young singer in the country. She took some undeserved flack, though, for recording an album of Canadian covers. On her third album, Is It OK, Ryder shows she can write with the same kind of muscle that drives her voice, moving easily from bluesy folk to passionate power rock. Unfortunately, Ryder's rootsy vocal stylings will likely appeal more to her parents' generation than her own.

I HAVEN'T SEEN the new James Bond film, but after listening to David Arnold's score, I don't have to. Intense blasts of violins and bass on The Palio signal a hurried chase, while slow, sweeping builds on Greene & Camille means a cautious Bond is peering around a corner. While the music is predictable, it still sounds fresh, even though it's root-his debut, he's one of the most sought after rap/R&B practitioners around. On his latest, the dreadlocked Floridian does something many rappers avoid — singing about heartbreak and love. He also discusses lap dances, and refers to Jesse Jackson's remark about castrating Barack Obama, but this is definitely one lovesick dude. Musically, he tones things down a bit here, but his famous auto-tune is in full force on nearly every song.

And, although this is probably better with the movie scenes in mind, don't be surprised if you start visualizing your own Bond film when this disc is on.

BUT ISN'T THAT THE POINT?

Tony Sirico's Paulie Walnuts was one of the best characters on HBO's The Sopranos — twitchy and volatile, constantly on the verge of a psychotic episode, he was a soothing reminder that, with guys like this around, the long term viability of the Mafia would always be in doubt.

Not content with a character actor's career, Sirico has apparently put his name on a new cologne — Paolo Per Uomo — that's gotten a fairly scathing review from the New York Post, who took it out to Times Square to test out on New Yorkers.

"It reminds me of a hard night," said one young woman. "It's way too much. If you put it on, you have to air yourself out," said another.

"At first whiff, we were sipping wine with Tony and Big Pussy at the Bada Bing," wrote the Post's Raahkee Mirchandani, obviously warming to the task.

"A few more whiffs — and we sensed top notes of cigar ash and polyester jumpsuits with hints of stripper sweat and a cream-filled cannoli."

Paolo Per Uomo was unveiled at the Perfumers Choice Awards in Manhattan, and will be joined by an aftershave and deodorant, according to Sirico, though there's no news about whether they'll also smell "like every lasagna-loving, spaghetti-slurping mob-boss wannabe or cheap imitation consigliere," as per the Post's

Grey's Anatomy adds cast members

CASTING With Brooke Smith's recent departure from the show, two newbies are prepping for Grey's Anatomy. Melissa George plays Sadie, one of Meredith's former college friends, while Mary McDonnell plays Dr. Dixon, a heart surgeon with Asperger's syndrome. Kevin McKidd is joining the show as a series regular, ABC reveals.

LIKE JACKASS FOR STUPID PEOPLE...DID I JUST SAY THAT?

Human Wrecking Balls is a new show on the G4 network in the U.S., where a pair of brothers demonstrates how to tear things apart using just their bare hands, shoulders and bodies, accompanied by the odd guest star, like the Danzig bassist who helps them wreck a hotel room.

"An office, an '80s muscle car and a small airplane" are all the victims of the Pumphrey brothers' unique skill set, according to a USA Today story, while experts like a structural engineer offer the educational component, describing "the strength of the items being destroyed and the force needed to pulverize them."

The Saddest Music in the World

Isabella Rossellini stars in this offbeat 2003 musical comedy as a beer baroness in 1930s Winnipeg. She offers $25,000 to whoever can produce the world's most melancholy melody, drawing contenders from all over the globe, including a washed-up Broadway producer (Mark McKinney, "Kids in the Hall") and his brother (Ross McMillan), who's posing as a Serbian cellist. Maria de Medeiros and David Fox also star. 9 PM on 40 BVO

Doc Zone

Remember when flying was a pleasant experience? Unless you can afford to go first class all the time, that's no longer the case. The new documentary "The Sky's the Limit" looks at the future of air travel — specifically, the impact that rising fuel costs, global climate change and the rise of the middle class in India and China are expected to have on the flying experience. It may just turn out that we'll go back to the days when only the well-off could fly. 9 PM on 8 CBC

Will Brangelina add to the brood?

FAMILY Actors Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt are reportedly eager to adopt a child from South America, but they are finding it difficult to negotiate the complicated adoption laws, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

The couple already has three adopted children: Maddox, 7, Pax, 4, and Zahara, 3. They also have three biological children: Shiloh, 2, and baby twins Knox and Vivienne. "We've thought about South or Latin America, but it's very complicated," Jolie says. "Brad and I aren't married, so, as a technically single woman, there are lots of countries I can't adopt from. And, as a technically single man, most countries wouldn't allow Brad to adopt at all. Some countries won't let you adopt a child if you already have a child of the same gender at home."

Aniston says mind your own business

PRIVACY Jennifer Aniston has a simple message when it comes to her on-again relationship with John Mayer: "People need to mind their own business," the actress tells Vogue in its December issue, People.com reports.

Of course, Aniston, 39, understands why so many people are intrigued by their romance. There's the age difference — Mayer is eight years younger — and the musician's high-profile past relationships with starlets like Jessica Simpson.

"Did you ever think Claudia Schiffer and David Copperfield made sense?" Aniston says.

Madonna's rules

DIVORCE If Guy Ritchie wants to see his kids, he better follow the strict rules his estranged wife Madonna has laid down, PageSix.com reports. She demands that while Rocco, 8 and David, 3, are with their dad in London, they can't read newspapers or magazines, meet his girlfriends, or have their photograph taken, the Daily Mail reports.

Madonna also reportedly insists the boys drink only kabbalah water, wear clothes made from natural fibers, and play with "spiritually and ethically" sound toys.

Fergie feasts for filming

DIET Singer Fergie isn't worried about putting weight on this holiday season, usmagazine.com reports.

"I've actually gained 10 pounds!" she said. "No, really — for the film, Nine. Actually, 13 to be exact."

"I ate everything!" she continued. "Fish and chips. Everything fried — things I don't normally eat."

But now, she said, "I have to give it up! So, yeah, I'm in that phase! Back to diet designs — my food delivery service!"

Fergie also added that she doesn't have any post-holiday workout plans.

Farrell found it tough to take over Ledger role

LEGACY Colin Farrell, Johnny Depp and Jude Law hit headlines earlier this year when they stepped in to help finish Heath Ledger's final film The Imaginarium of Doctor Parnassus — but the decision to climb on board and bring to life his good friend's role was torment for Farrell, foxnews.com reports.

"It was a very difficult decision to make, when I first heard about it I totally freaked at the idea," Farrell told Tarts.

"But it was important to get Heath's work out and doing what I think Heath would have wanted, which was finishing the movie to its entirety."

Spicy Broccoli and Cauliflower

INGREDIENTS:

- 5 cloves garlic
- 1 green chili pepper
- 2 tbsp (25 mL) olive oil
- 1 lb (500g) broccoli florets
- 1 lb (500g) cauliflower florets
- 2 oz (50g) Emmenthal cheese
- 2 oz (50g) Cheddar cheese
- 3 tbsp (45 mL) dried bread crumbs
- 2 tbsp (25 mL) capers
- 1-2 tbsp (15-25 mL) pickled green peppercorns
- Salt and black pepper

METHOD:

- Preheat the broiler and put a pot of water on to boil.
- Peel and thinly slice garlic. Seed and chop chili pepper.
- Heat oil in a frying pan or large wok with a lid. Add garlic and chili pepper, stir in broccoli and cauliflower florets, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and add 3/4 cup (150 mL) boiling water. Cover pan and cook vegetables over high heat for 4-5 minutes, until they are tender. Stir or toss halfway through cooking. Drain well.

4. Meanwhile, grate Emmenthal and Cheddar cheeses and mix them with bread crumbs.

5. Stir capers and peppercorns into vegetables. Transfer to a shallow flameproof dish, sprinkle cheese and bread crumb mixture over the top, and place under broiler until cheese melts and topping turns golden. Serve hot.

AVATAR VENUS

ARIES
MARCH 21-APRIL 20

A speaker has reservations about you. A group looks to you for support. A passionate encounter is ruined by bad timing.

TAURUS
APRIL 21-MAY 21

A dubious tale threatens a new-found friendship. A whiner gives up on optimism. A practical person puts away remorse.

GEMINI
MAY 22-JUNE 21

Cut a long story short to steer clear of slippery slopes. A hidden opponent makes a conversion. Uncertainty about work continues.

CANCER
JUNE 22-JULY 22

Excessive responsibility can lead to arguments. An encounter in a corridor will end a bad situation. Exhausting events force your eyes open.

LEO
JULY 23-AUG 23

Everyone's talking about what's about to happen. Running wild affects your work prospects. You'll live up to your own expectations.

VIRGO
AUG 24-SEPT 22

Winning an argument will be frustrating. Be truthful with a special person. A perky woman will do things properly.

LIBRA
SEPT 23-OCT 23

A fateful meeting will be remembered. The cost of disagreeing is not worth it. Refuse to take part in cruel activities.

SCORPIO
OCT 24-NOV 22

Don't play rough with an immature guy. Ethical problems must be dealt with. A VIP impresses others with a new technique.

SAGITTARIUS
NOV 23-DEC 21

A strong man is hiding something. A dramatic person frightens people. Lethargic day-dreamers start to irritate you.

CAPRICORN
DEC 22-JAN 20

Accept an invitation if you care about someone. Take a walk on the wild side. Bungling fails to amuse you.

AQUARIUS
JAN 21-FEB 18

Expect some good things to come your way. A helpful person single-handedly goes off track. Certainty develops about a messy romance.

PISCES
FEB 19-MARCH 20

Give someone extra respect and concede a loss. Other people won't argue unless you do. Avoid complaints after a spirited encounter.

Selection will vary by store. Savings are off our regular prices, unless otherwise specified. Everyday Bay Value, just-reduced, Power Buys, Manager's Specials, licensed departments, Salvati, Vera Wang and Hbc Foundation charity merchandise are excluded. When you see "POWER BUY" or "MANAGER'S SPECIAL" you will know we have found an exceptional deal to pass on to you. We may tell you the COMPARABLE VALUE on the price ticket and/or a sign, so you will see the price another retailer in Canada charges or would likely charge for the same or a comparable value item. Quantities of our Power Buys and Manager's Specials and items located in any "Style Outlet" in-store departments are limited and may vary from store to store - no rainchecks or substitutions. When we say "PRICE CUT", we mean the existing everyday price is being lowered temporarily. See in-store for details.
